- Any person who is a non-reader.

The Picture Cookbook is a great Christmas Present for all children and anyone who cannot read but likes to eat!

“In her cookbook, by skilfully breaking each step into all the required steps, and by representing each step with pictures, Joyce has made the art of cooking accessible to all. I hope all will enjoy this special opportunity to employ the kitchen as a place for learning. And even better, to delight in the tasty products of that learning.”

John Ormond
 Assistant Superintendent
 School District No. 36 (Surrey, BC)

“The Picture Cookbook is a wonderful idea! By the time we are parents, our world is so full of words that we use them for everything, and forget how to 'teach' nonverbal, low-verbal or even deaf children without using words! These recipes — written with pictures instead of words — are a startlingly simple solution, which allow developmentally different children to achieve greater independence, build self-esteem and to contribute meaningfully to the family unit.”

Dr. E. Jean Gibson, MD, FRCPC; Child Neurologist

The Picture Cookbook was specifically written for individuals with limited ability to understand the dangers in the kitchen; such as fire or knives.
